The New State Bank.

At this time there seems to be a great three among certain classes of politicians, on account of alleged frauds in chartering and organizing our new State Bank. And while we do not feel called upon to enter into an examination or justi-fication of the manner in which such things are usually brought about, we do not hesitate to be lieve that there is unnecessary amount of anxiety exhibited on this occasion, which is detrimental o public interest. There is a plain and practical view of this question which is infinitely more important to the masses than all the strained and exaggerated bugbears of fraud and corruption.

The wants and necessities of mankind seem to require banks, and when they are under the con-trol of cautions, prudent and wealthy men, confer the Packets and Cars without charge.

great benefits on society by facilitating commercial transaction, and affirding alsafe and convenient circulating medium. But, banks, to be safe must be predicated upon the basis of solid wealth. It is useless to talk about philanthropy, heroism, honesty and this, that, and the other essentials of moral and upright life, it is money and intellec that are required as the corner stones of safe banking. Money is in the hands of the shrewd and enterprising, who trade, speculate, and live at ease at the expense of the real productive in lustry of the country. forth an effort does not rebourd with beneficial effect upon the community. Banking itself in an illustration of this. Banks are called monied monopolies, by which the wealthy seek to accumulate and exercise power. But in the very act by which they fortify and strengthen themselves, they look to the patronage of the public, sow and sire of the infernal regions. The villain was at my side, and he measured the distance from his hand to my heart with his eve. In his left hand he held a handkerchief all wadded up. That was to stop my mouth with! Every nerve in my hody was now strung. and my heart stood still as death. Of course my snoring ceased; and at that instant the huge knife was raised above my bosom! Quick as thought I brought my listed up, the muzzle was within a foot of ther robber's heart, he uttered a quick cry-I saw the bright blade quiver in the moonlight, but it came not upon me, I pulled Shovels.

THER LEMON WICE Mentals with the or not There was a sharp report, and as I sprang up and back I heard a fierce yell, and at the same moment the robber fell forward, his head striking my knee as it came down!

Weak and faint I sank back, but a sudden went aft and took the paddle. As soon as the hoat's head was once more right, I turned my eyes upon the form in the bottom of the cance, I saw it qu'ver-only a spasmodic movement-and then all was still.

All that night I sat there at my watch and steered my little bark. I had the second ristel ready, for I knew not surely that the wretch was dead; he might be waiting to catch me off my guard, and then shoot me. But the night my guard, and then shoot me. But the night passed slowly and drearily away, and when the morning broke, the form had not moved. Then

J U WINSLOW. · I stepped forward and saw that Gestus Karl was dend! He had fallen with his knife true to its aim for it had struck very near to the spot over which my heart must have been, and the point was driven so far into the solid wood that I had to work hard to pull it out, and harder still to enclose the marble fingers that were classed with dying madness about the handle! Swiftly flowed the tide, and ere the sun had again sunk to rest I had reached Logansport. The authorities knew the face of Gustus Karl at once, and when I had told my story they poured out a thousand thanks upon my head. A purse was raised and the offered reward put with it and tendered to me. I took the simple reward from the generous e tizens, while the remainder I directed should be d stributed among those who have suffered most from the Wabash robber's depredations. I found poor Kemp sick and miserable Ho was burning with fever, and the doctor had shut him up in a room where a poor man must soon "Water! water! In God's name give me water!" he gasped.

'Haven't you had any?" I asked. He told me no. I threw open his windows sent for a pail of ice water, and was on the point of administering it, as the old doctor arrived.— He raised his hands in trepidation, and told me twould kill the sick man. But I forced him back while Kemp drank the grateful beverage. He drank deeply and then slept. The perspira-tion poured off him like rain, and when he woke again his skin was moist and his fever turned.-In nine days from then he sat in the saddle by my side, and we started for Little River. At Walton's settlement I found my horse wholly recovered, and when I offered to pay for his keeping the host would take nothing. The story of my adventure upon the river had preceded me, and this was the landlord's gratitude.

Who Wants a Home. and Ten Years to pay for it?

WILL sell all that part of the well known Kercheval Reserve, laying in St. Joseph Township, containing 413 acres, in lots to suit purchasers. The land is of the best quality, and well timbered with Poplar, Walnut, Oak, Ash, &c. I have a Saw Mill on the adjoining premises, so that all the logs can be put into cash. The wood will pay well to haul in Fort Wayne.

TERMS—Those that will go on to improve their TERMS—These that will go on to improve their land will have two years credit on the entire amount, by paying the interest ahnually in advance. The principal will then be required in eight equal payments at three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, and ten years from time of purchase.

Purchasers can, if they wish, rent portions of my improved farm adjoining, until they get their land greenered.

For particulars inquire of the subscriber, living at the Steam Saw Milt adjoining, four miles east of Fort Wayne, on the north side of the Maumee river.

From the New York Ledger. A RIVER ADVENTURE.

In the summer of 1832, I was engaged with a roung men maned Lyman Keep, in locating fand-lots along the Waltesh in Indiana. I have gone out partly for my health, and partly to accommodate one who had sive here a good friend to me, and who had nerheard a great deaf of Garerament tand. At Legant-tort, Keup was taken sich, and after watching with him a week in loope that he would recover; I found that he inad a settled lever; and as the physician said he would up reliably be able to move on under.
